What Voters Need to Know for the November 4 General Consolidated City of Tucson/School District Election

The City of Tucson and three Pima County school districts are consolidating their elections on a single ballot this fall in an all-mail election. Typically, the City of Tucson conducts its own elections and school district elections are facilitated by the Pima County Recorder's Office separately. However, to reduce voter confusion, the City of Tucson and County Superintendent's Office have jointly decided to combine their ballot items. The Pima County Recorder's Office will act as a vendor for both and administer the combined all vote-by-mail election.

Eligibility

This consolidated election is an all-mail election, meaning that every eligible voter within the boundaries of the City of Tucson and the boundaries of the Tucson Unified, Flowing Wells Unified and Sunnyside Unified school districts will be mailed a ballot.

The Recorder's Office will mail ballots to all eligible voters beginning on October 8. Additionally, the Recorder's Office will operate Early Voting Ballot Replacement Sites and Ballot Drop-off locations.

Voters can check whether they are eligible via the Recorder's Office Voter Dashboard.
